SHADES AND SPECTRUM II

The panel discussion delved into the rich tapestry of ancient Indian texts, specifically the Mahabharata and Ramayana. These epics, far from being merely dusty relics of the past, were revealed as vibrant narratives that challenge our conventional understanding of the world. The panelists showcased diverse instances within these texts that highlighted the inherent complexity of human experience, showcasing characters and storylines that transcended the limitations of time and culture.

This exploration wasn't just about rediscovering forgotten tales. By delving into the depths of these historical works, the discussion aimed to reclaim lost stories and validate the existence and contributions of LGBTQ+ individuals throughout history. The event attracted a wide audience, with participants from all walks of life and age groups joining both online and offline. This inclusivity was further strengthened by the collaboration with the Qknit Foundation, an organization dedicated to LGBTQ+ issues. Their partnership amplified the impact of the event, ensuring a wider reach and deeper understanding.

The discussion wasn't confined to national borders. This year, the event was streamed internationally on platforms like Zoom and YouTube. This global reach was further emphasized by the involvement of representatives from different parts of the world. Their participation underscored the universality of LGBTQ+ narratives found within ancient texts, sparking conversations that transcended geographical boundaries.

Shades and Spectrum II served as a pivotal platform for fostering dialogue, raising awareness, and promoting understanding of LGBTQ+ narratives in ancient texts. It catalyzed a broader societal discourse on inclusivity and acceptance, leaving an indelible mark on all attendees.

AV FOR CONGENITAL HEART DISEASE

The Rotaract Club of Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies (RCDGMC) and its Parent Rotary, The Rotary Club of Bombay Airport (RCBA), collaborated on a two-day video shoot project to raise public awareness about congenital heart disease (CHD). The project took place on 7th and 8th March 2023, with the primary objective of educating the public about CHD and highlighting the RCBA initiative's role in supporting affected children.

The challenge at hand was to create an impactful audiovisual (AV) resource that effectively conveyed the significance of early diagnosis and treatment for CHD. The project required meticulous planning, coordination, and execution to ensure a successful outcome. Additionally, the students of DGMC sought to gain practical experience and hands-on exposure to a large-scale shoot.

During the pre-production planning phase, the students of DGMC actively participated, contributing their ideas and creativity to the project. This involvement allowed them to apply their theoretical knowledge and develop project management and communication skills.

AV FOR CONGENITAL HEART DISEASE

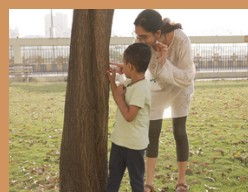

The two-day shoot commenced at Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies, where the initial segment of the video narrative was captured. The second day of filming took place at Shri Satya Sai Sanjeevani Hospital in Kharghar, Navi Mumbai. This provided the students with exposure to different shooting locations and environments, allowing them to adapt to the challenges and logistics of a multi-location shoot. The experience broadened their understanding of the production process. The students had the opportunity to witness and learn from experienced Rotarians, including Past President Rtn. Nitin Mehta and President-Elect Rtn. Apurva Patel. The central goal of the project was to create a powerful audiovisual (AV) resource that would effectively communicate the critical importance of early diagnosis and treatment for CHD.

After the filming phase, the footage from both days underwent meticulous editing to create a cohesive and impactful video resource. The video is set to be launched in the forthcoming Installation ceremony of RCBA's R.I. Year 2024-25.

The collaborative project served as a valuable learning experience for the students of DGMC. They gained practical knowledge in various aspects of video production, including project management, communication, videography, and storytelling. The hands-on exposure to a large-scale shoot provided them with invaluable practical experience.

The collaborative video shoot project on CHD successfully raised public awareness and showcased the RCBA initiative's commitment to supporting children with CHD. The students of DGMC not only contributed to the project's success but also gained transferable skills applicable in their future endeavors. The impact of this project will extend beyond the video itself, as the students continue to use their newfound skills to elevate public awareness about social causes.
